Valley Forge, PA / Camden, NJ

THE USS NEW JERSEY REUNION

Valley Forge. No battles were fought here, no bayonet charges or artillery bombardments took place, but during the winter of 1777-78 approximately 2,000 soldiers died at hospitals in the surrounding area nonetheless. Valley Forge is the story of an army’s epic struggle to survive against terrible odds, against hunger, disease, and the unrelenting forces of nature. Ending the campaign of 1777, the British Gen.

Howe occupied Philadelphia which was then the Colonial Capitol. Washington and his 12,000 men occupied the defensible positions 18 miles to the west, close enough to cut Howe off from any westward expansion, but far enough away to avoid a surprise attack. This area with Mt Joy and Mt Misery, were easily defensible because of the country side. Come spring, Howe abandoned Philadelphia and marched back towards NY. When Washington’s army left the next spring a decisive victory had been won — a victory not of weapons but of will. Americas history could have ended here, but it was only the beginning . Be sure to save time to explore this great history.

“Were Are They Now” Spotlights Neil Lifer

Neil Lifer is the famed photographer from Sports Illustrated who grew up across from the Brooklyn Navy Shipyards in Mahattan, NY and watched as the Battleships and Aircraft Carriers came into harbor. Dreaming of one day flying those jets himself. Instead, he became a photo journalist for Time, Newsweek and Life Magazines. Vietnam Era veterans will remember him from Dreadnought Returns. With over 200 cover shots to his credit, see were Neil is today.

Flying In To Philadelphia for the Reunion?

Getting to the hotel from the airport can be very expensive. Thanks to Bob La Vine, here is a little less costly alternative. From the Philadelphia, PA.

Airport take an R-1 train to the 30th Street Station, get off, take a R-6 Train to the NORRISTOWN Station, get off and call the Valley Forge Hotel at 1-800-TRY-VFPA and the Hilton Hotel Shuttle will come and pick you up. The Shuttle does not go to the Airport. This is the a low cost way to get to the Hilton. Both the R-1($5) R-6 ($3) cost each way. Or take the round trip TROPICANO Shuttle, at the Airport, for a cost of $40 cash or $45 credit card. A Taxi is $50, one way. There are other transporters but Tropiano Trans was recommended by the Hilton Hotel. Call Tropiano Trans 1 HOUR ahead of pick up time or when you first arrive at the Philly Airport. 800-559-2040 / 215-643-5397

Clearing Off The Presidents Desk

Hello Shipmates,

A little note to try and bring you all up to date as what has been happening lately for our next reunion. The reunion planners are just about finished with all the preparation for our lodging in Valley Forge, Pa. for this September along with most of the trips and meals. We have ten buses on standby for our trip to the ship which includes a box lunch. Former President Dick Esser along with our main contact in New Jersey, Bob LaVine, are hard at work dotting all the I's and crossing all the T's so as we can keep any problems to just a few. Myself, Dick and Bob will be visiting the ship and hotel sometime in May to close any last minute loop holes and to make sure everything is in order for us to set up shop come reunion. I am sure there are and will be a lot of questions on all aspects of the reunion, so feel free to call me on the phone or E-mail and I will try to get an answer for you.

At our next directors meeting we are going to try and stream line some of the things we have done in the past to make things easier for all of us. The new batch of directors are full of fresh new things we might like to try. We hope to have some new stuff to put out to all the membership in September.

In closing, I hope all the snow is gone and have a nice spring and summer and see you all in September.

Fraternally Yours,

Mike Prime

There is a theory that when we dream, every face we encounter is a face we have actually seen. We may not recognize it, but the theory proposes that our mind does not invent or make up new images, it searches our memory and fills in new faces with old ones on file. The theory goes on to say that nothing “new” is ever invented. But “new” things are created by changing the way we use existing materials, and changing the way we apply existing knowledge. Take the airplane for example. People saw birds fly and decided they wanted to be able to do that. So they start making things that looked like bird wings. Then someone put it together that if they could match the right wing with an engine strong enough, to move it fast enough across the ground, then the wings should lift off the ground and carry the engine with it. The Wright brothers are credited with being the first ones to put everything together in the right order. But they didn’t invent flight, God did that.

This illustration reminds me that I have much for which to be thankful. Perhaps we take too much credit for our accomplishments. I believe it also reminds us that we are called to make the world a better place. God gives us the resources and opportunities to truly make a difference.

I can witness to you that the relationships built and maintained through this organization and during our annual reunions truly make a difference. We make each other better, in big and small ways. The shared stories and experiences bring joy and sometime healing in a very special way.

However, we should not take all the credit for our successes and good times. Let us give thanks to God for every opportunity to come together in fellowship and remembrance. May this coming year find us, once again, together in the presence of our Lord.

Blessings Abound,

Fellow shipmates, ladies and friends. Again its time to bend your ear.

I would like to thank the Era Representatives:

Bob LaVine 1940's Director, Joe Wozniak 1960's Director and Mark Finby 1980's Director.

The District Volunteers:

1940's - South - Walter Bardin

1950's - North - Zack Lindsey / South - Hugh Selman / East - Don Eggleton / West - Bill Hixon

1960's - North - Bill Meredith / South - Hank Strub III / East - Bob Williams / West - Mark Bancock

1980's - North - Dirk Gunderson / South - Scott Henson / East - Carl Heald / West - Duane Cunningham

They are your direct representatives in getting the updates of address, phone numbers and e-mails. There time is long and important. They can keep you abreast via e-mail of some of the happenings and who has died so you don't have to wait until the Jersey Bounce is published. I still need District Volunteers for the 1940's East, West and North Districts and a 1950's Era Representative / Director. You don't have to be from that era to participate. Volunteering is what keeps this organization going administratively. I would also like to commend our Membership Director John Hayes who has taken on a seemingly endless job of getting the dues and membership information up to date. Lou Ashby as treasurer is coming along fine. Bob La Vine and Dick Esser for their diligent work on this year's shipboard reunion.

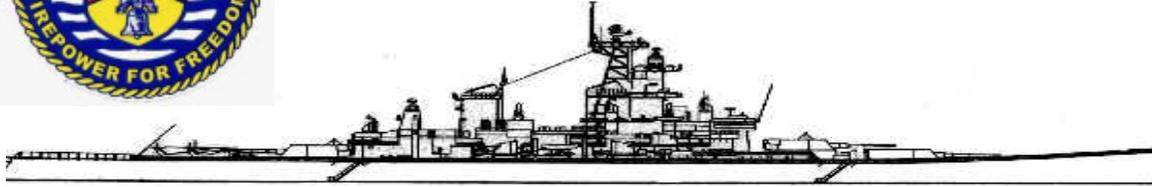

Speaking of the reunion. PLEASE!! Listen Up. The photographer will take portraits for the "Cruise Book" prior to the Saturday Night Dinner Dance beginning at 1700. PLEASE!! Have your portrait taken. You do not have to purchase any photos or even the cruise book. The portraits are for the cruise book and the more taken and inserted, the better the "Cruise Book".

Here is the schedule of events for the Group Pictures:

After the Guest Speaker concludes, I will call out the 1st group. WWII Plankowners, then all 1940's, then all 1950's, then all 1960's, then all 1980's. Afterwhich, all WW II Plankowners wives, mates and children, then all 1940's wives, mates and children, then all 1950's wives, mates and children, then all 1960's wives, mates and children, then all 1980's wives, mates and children. After the above groups are finished in the order prescribed the following shall apply. Do not deviate. Divisional Group Pictures are your responsibility. Have a spokesman discuss this with the photographer ahead of time.

Hope to see you all and don't forget to make your seating arrangements, (1) one spokesman for each table, in with your reservations to the reunion planners, Ray Casey and his crew from Military Reunion Planners.

FROM THE WEBMASTER

Dear Shipmates,

Those of you who monitor my work on the Web Site may have noticed a few photos from our last Reunion. Certainly if you have any you'd like to add, feel free to e-mail them to me.

Hopefully some of you have made use of the Ship's Store on the Web Site to order your shirts and hats. There are still some out there that believe it's a wasted effort.

I'm looking forward to our coming reunion. Seeing the ship again will be very nice. It will also be nice to be in a better location than Cherry Hill, where we were for the last reunion at the ship. Valley Forge offers a better environment and many more opportunities for sight seeing.

For those of you viewing this on the Web Site, you'll notice the Financial Statement is missing. That's because it's only available to the Members. If you want a copy mailed to you just ask Peter.

E-mail address change notification is still improving, as is TAPS information. In the very near future we will probably be updating our Web Site Roster. No mean task that may take several weeks. You could reduce that time if you'd just double check your entry and make any necessary corrections yourself. I know many of you are doing that already and I thank you. However, I may look for two or three volunteers to do the on-line data entry. If you're interested let me know.

Spring has sprung, at least here in California. Enjoy the Summer and stay well.

Were Are They Now?

“Neil Leifer”

Neil Leifer is most famous for his incredible photo shots of sporting events that have appeared in the pages of Sports Illustrated. For those of you from the Vietnam Era, you know him for a great deal more than that.

When he read in the newspaper that Robert McNamara wanted to bring the USS New Jersey out of mothballs in preparation for her service in the Vietnam War, Neil had an idea. “I was very much established as a sports photographer but I went to the publisher of Life magazine and pitched an idea for a story “From Mothballs to Vietnam”, the story of the USS New Jersey.” “I really wanted to do this piece so instead of the normal scale rate for the job, I offered them a flat rate for the whole year that was so ridiculously low, that they said yes.”

Neil followed the ship from the Philadelphia Shipyards, to the recommissioning. Spend 10 days aboard ship as it crossed through the Panama Canal on her way to Long Beach. While off the coast of Vietnam, he spend another two weeks on board including a helicopter flight to shoot a full 9 gun salvo. Some of you may remember the ship doing the firing twice. You may not have known why. It seems that CBS News was on board the helicopter with Neil and while at 50 frames per second, he got the perfect shot, CBS’s camera malfunctioned. After some serious begging, they were able to get permission for that second firing. Freedom to enjoy meals anywhere on the ship was another perk for Neil. “Around 11:30, I would walk from mess to mess and see what was on the menu. If the Chief’s had something good I would hang around until someone would yell, “What’s a matter Neil, were not good enough to have dinner with.” And of course I would be obligated to dine with them. There was also a particular gun turret that was always a fun place to hang out.”

His story never ran in Life Magazine. At the completion of his piece, it was sent back to New York where they were deciding if it would be a cover story or a feature. Mr. Leifer headed directly from the Gulf of Tonkon to Mexico City in order to cover the 1968 Olympics. With protestors demonstrating strongly against the war, President Lyndon Johnson decided to stop all bombing of North Vietnam. With that being the mission of the USS New Jersey, there wasn’t much left for her to do. Mr. Leifer commented; “I was probably one of the few people in the United States who was upset that the bombing stopped.”

Captain Snyder had seen the pictures and suggested using them as part of the Cruise Book. The challenge was that a typical cruise book is made up of departmental, individual and group tour type pictures. The pictures for Life didn’t really fit that scheme, so Captain Synder, Commander Elfelt and Neil made up a second book to accompany the cruise book, a bonus book so to speak with all the pictures coming from what was shot at the Philadelphia Shipyards all the way to Vietnam. Dreadnought Returns was put together using Welfare & Recreation funds and became even more of a collectors edition then the cruise book itself.

A second book, Dreadnought Farewell, was commissioned by Captain Peniston. The cover shot for this book is of the fantail of the New Jersey cutting through the water on her way to Bremerton commemorating what was the end of another era for the Battleship.

Neil’s pictures cast such an aura on the ship that one can not help but look at them and wonder how man could have created something so powerful. They bring to life what those of us who have experienced her first hand could never explain with mere words. These pictures came a long way from the boy who used to skip school and sneak under the fence of the Brooklyn Navy Shipyards to take pictures of the ship so many years before. Today, Neil is working with Frank Deford producing a 90 minute documentary for ESPN and is still living in New York City.

To see more of Neil Leifers work, go to www.neilleifer.com.

EDITOR'S CORNER

I'm a history kind of guy. The trip to Washington D.C. was my third time to the city and will not be my last. There is so much more to see yet. While I have been to Philadelphia before, it has never been in the context of enjoying all that is theirs to learn in regards to the history of our nation. As an example, The Liberty Bell, which is owned by the City of Philadelphia was originally cast in 1752. That is 14 years before our country declared independence from England. Can anyone tell me about the Battle of Valley Forge? Probably be a bit tough on that one because there never was one. Valley Forge was a holding point for the troops of General George Washington. But talk about your great commanders. Alexander Hamilton and James Monroe each served under General Washington at Valley Forge. It is interesting to note the number of times the Continental Congress moved out of Philadelphia during the Revolutionary War only to return once the British were pushed back. And while the British were able to tie together Allegiances with the Indian Tribes of the area, it was the partnership formed by General Washington and Ben Franklin with the French that brought about the greatest benefit to America. Yes, the French! With Britain declaring war on France and Denmark, the latter of which profited greatly from the war by selling its goods to America and France, it faced being in the middle of a World War. As Spain entered in on behalf of France it left little room for the British forces to continue.

While in Philadelphia, we will have the chance to see Independence Hall, site of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, Congress Hall, home of the United States Congress from 1790 - 1800 when Philadelphia was our Nation's Capitol. You will have the chance to visit Betsy Ross's home. Built in 1740, this home is about more then the creation of our Nations flag. Christ Church, the baprtismal home of William Penn and benefactor of 3 separate lotteries put together by Benjamin Franklin to help pay for its steeple and bells. He also had his own pew in the Church; #70. And what trip with Battleship Sailors would be worth making, without a stop at the Tavern.City Tavern, also called the Merchants' Coffee House, was the political, social, and business center of the new United States. You can even get a beer here too.

If history isn't for you, a trip to Atlantic City might work into your schedule. Opened on June 26, 1870, the world-famous Boardwalk stretches along six magical and glittering miles of Atlantic City beachfront. Along this walk, you may notice a few casinos to challenge your luck and some great shows too.

For advanced information, go to www.valleyforge.org and request a free destination guide. It is filled with maps and great places to visit during this years reunion.

Of course, the main event is going home to see the ship. As you will have read a number of times in this newsletter already, the USS New Jersey is the reason for us all being together. No other ship that I served upon or any other occupation that I have held has brought such a warm glow to my heart. I look forward to walking up the brow of our great ship, saluting the Ensign and requesting permission to come aboard. If you have the chance to bring your family, please do. Showing them your pride in this magnificent ship will help to keep her spirit alive long after we have passed on. Our children and grandchildren deserve to learn what helped to form the people that you and I have become. Share that with them and they will remember it forever.

See you in Philly!

Former Battleship Sailor Takes Command

On March 16th US Navy Commander Werner H. Jerinka took over command of the USS Paul Hamilton (DDG-60), homeported in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

“I have extremely fond memories of serving aboard New Jersey and even attended the last reunion in DC” (I was the “youngest” in attendance).

“I left New Jersey in 1990 right before her decommissioning and reported to the Pre-commissioning crew of the USS Chosin (CG 65), an AEGIS Cruiser eventually based in Pearl Harbor. Hawaii became a theme, I did my XO tour here (USS Hopper- DDG 70) and now return for Paul Hamilton. My family and I love it in Hawaii and I have a constant reminder of my start since the USS Missouri is berthed within view. Between those tours, I’ve had shore duty twice in DC and did my department head tours on USS Valley Forge (CG 50), a cruiser based in San Diego.”

As for 4th division, it was my first navy tour and my most memorable, I had a blast with those guys and am eternally grateful for serving with BMC M Dave Rigney. Chief Rigney was the chief all Ensigns should get; he was always on the deckplates, got the job done well, was blunt, understanding and basically shaped me into whom I am today. If I could have one guy from my 4th div days at the ceremony, it would be him.

Another connection is that the final CO of the New Jersey, RADM Ron Tucker (ret) will be a guest at the ceremony. In short, I continue to maintain friendships from my tour and treasure my time aboard the “Big J”... I’m proud to call myself a “Battleship Sailor”!

Meet Us In The Ships Store Lounge For Great Conversation and Fun Reading

In Honor of.....

Russell Brown founded the USS New Jersey Veterans Association and World War II Veteran,

The Passing of a Shipmate

On January 1, 2005

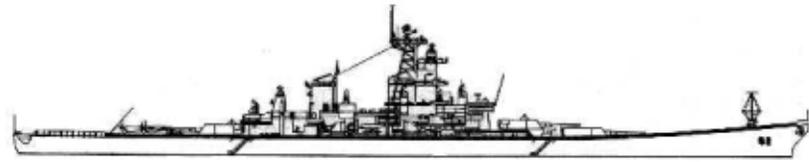

The USS New Jersey lost a Shipmate and a Friend with the passing of Russell Brown...

In the early part of the 1980, a group of friends from the USS New Jersey got together in Champaign, Il, hometown of Russ Brown. It was at this meeting that it was decided to hold the first official reunion at the recommissioning of the USS New Jersey in Long Beach, California on January 12, 1983. The only challenge to that was President Reagan was in California for Christmas, so they moved the recommissioning up to December 28th and well, those of you who were there no the rest of the story. However, from that first meeting came a network of people who also had a love of the New Jersey. Those people contacted their shipmates so that at the next reunion in Atlantic City, there were nearly 500 members in attendance. Russell believed that communication was key to growing the organization. Based upon his results, he was certainly right about that.

It was on October 26, 1985 that Russell Brown along with Attorney George Elwood and Edwin Fogelson signed the documents the formed the Articles of Incorporation making official, with bi-laws and rules of membership, the USS New Jersey Veterans Association, Inc.

Russell Brown remained President for 10 years. His friends and shipmates knew him as a very quiet gentle man. Someone who knew how to be a president and let you know exactly what was expected of you while keeping everyone informed as to what was happening. He was very involved in the organization from working small stores to selling tickets. He liked to mix people up from different eras to spread the news about the ship and its people. Most of all, he loved the USS New Jersey and his fellow shipmates.

Russ might be gone, but he will never be forgotten. Gods speed Russell! May you rest in peace with all your U.S.S. New Jersey Memories.

Shipmates,

Just a few words to update you regarding membership. Because of the turnover of officers in October 2004 the dues statements were not mailed until mid-January. We are scattered around the country and it took some time to get files updated and the mailings set up. This is not a permanent change: dues statements for 2006 dues (due as of October 1, 2005) should be mailed in October this year.

The response to the dues statements has been excellent. Most payments were received in the first month and are still coming in fairly steadily. Of 1,010 due statements mailed, 21 were returned as undeliverable. This is not too bad, but higher than normal for our organization. So I urge all members to contact me with any address changes or corrections. We all like to get our Jersey Bounce on time but we cannot get it to you if your address is not current.

There have been some questions on why some members are no longer receiving the Jersey Bounce or dues statements. If a member does not pay dues for two years, he or she is transferred to the Inactive Member list. As such, dues notices and newsletters etc. are not sent to them. It is therefore good policy to pay your dues promptly.

We are steadily getting new members, although not in large numbers. Bravo Zulu to Bob Dingman (Vietnam Era, E Division) who has been searching the nation for former shipmates. Several of his "finds" have joined the USS New Jersey Veterans Inc recently.

Burial At Sea Prayer.....

“We therefore commit his body to the deep, looking for the general Resurrection in the last day, and the life of the world to come, through our Lord Jesus Christ; at whose second coming in glorious majesty to judge the world, the sea shall give up her dead; and the corruptible bodies of those who sleep in him shall be changed, and made like unto his glorious body; according to the mighty working whereby he is able to subdue all things unto himself.”

Whats Going On With Our Sister Battleships

The USS Iowa (BB-61)

Moored at the inactive ship facility in Suisun Bay, California. USS Iowa awaits her turn to come pier-side in San Francisco, California.

Talking with Paul Gomez, from the USS Iowa Veterans, the politicians are still working on getting this goal accomplished. The Port of San Francisco recently passed a historical bill setting up requirements for docking a ship in the harbors. The USS Iowa meets most of those requirements now. While they are not looking for the Iowa to be a museum in the next year. The next step is to get the ship removed from the reserve fleet and donated to the Historic Ship Memorial at Pacific Square.

The USS Iowa Veterans Association will be holding it annual reunion in Rapid City, South Dakota from 14-18 September. For more information on the USS Iowa, go to www.ussiowa.org.

The USS Missouri (BB-63)

Now a floating museum in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii she sits fittingly near the USS Arizona Memorial.

It all started when World War II Navy Commander Edwin Carter, USNR, (Ret.) sat down with retired Admiral Ron Hays and retired Navy Boatswains Mate Harold Estes for lunch in early 1994, they discussed the battleship and how she deserved a place where she could share her lessons of peace, honor and glory. The three agreed, “Why not Pearl Harbor?”

On May 4, 1998, the Navy officially granted the battleship’s care to the Association. Six weeks later, on Father’s Day, June 21, 1998, the Missouri received a hero’s welcome as she passed the shores of Waikiki. The following day she first took her current post where she proudly stands watch over fallen comrades in the hallowed waters of Pearl Harbor.

On January 29, 1999, seven months after her arrival and nearly five years after Carter, Hays and Estes met for lunch, “Mighty Mo” welcomed the public with open decks and open doors.

The annual reunion of the USS Missouri Veterans will be held on 31 August - 7 September, 2005 in Albuquerque, New Mexico, learn more at www.ussmissouri.org

The USS WISCONSIN (BB-64)

Berthed at the National Maritime Center-Nauticus, in Norfolk, Virginia. The association is thrilled with, what will hopefully be, her permanent home. The public will only be allowed to walk the main decks. They will also be able to get a close-up view of her massive 16" guns. The ship will be maintained for readiness by navy personnel, therefore, the below decks areas will be off limits to the general public.

The membership association holds a biannual reunion. The next one to be from 3 October - 15 October aboard the Carnival Cruise Ship Spirit for a 10 day cruise to Hawaii. Including stops at the Arizona Memorial and our sister ship, The USS Missouri (BB-63). Visit their website at www.usswisconsin.org

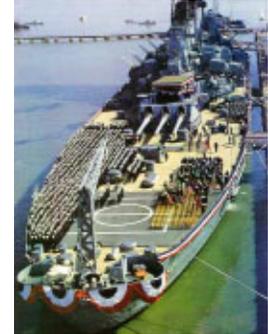

The USS New Jersey Story

Vietnam

New Jersey's third career began 6 April 1968 when she was recommissioned at Philadelphia Naval Shipyard with Captain J. Edward Snyder in command. Fitted with new improved electronics and a helicopter landing pad, the USS New Jersey had her 40-millimeter battery removed. Her primary mission was to provide heavy bombardment with 16" guns that could reach targets in Vietnam inaccessible to smaller naval guns and, in foul weather, safe from aerial attack.

As the world's only active battleship, New Jersey departed Philadelphia on 16 May heading through the Panama Canal in-route to her new home port of Long Beach, California. There wasn't much time for the ship or her crew to get to comfortable as on 3 September they sailed for Pearl Harbor and Subic Bay before arriving along the Vietnamese Coast on 25 September. Near the 17th parallel on 30 September, USS New Jersey fired her first shots in battle in over sixteen years. In only her second day of firing, New Jersey fired against targets north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) rescuing the crew of a spotting plane forced down at sea by anti-aircraft fire.

USS New Jersey spent the better of the next six months with a steady pace of bombardment and fire support missions along the Vietnamese coast. In her first two months alone, New Jersey directed nearly ten thousand rounds of ammunition at Communist targets; over 3000 of these shells were 16-inch projectiles.

As her first Vietnam tour came to a close, New Jersey departed Subic Bay on her way to a two day port call at Yokosuka, Japan and a return sailing to America. The trip to Long Beach was delayed when on 15 April North Korean jet fighters shot down an unarmed EC-121 Constellation electronic surveillance plane over the Sea of Japan, killing its entire crew. New Jersey was ordered to come about and steam back towards Japan in readiness for what might befall. As tension lessened, New Jersey was released to continue her voyage home arriving back in Long Beach 5 May 1969 after an eight month deployment.

As the crew spent the summer months preparing the New Jersey for her return to action in Southeast Asia, political will and economics sent a ripple through the Navy. On 22 August 1969, the Secretary of Defense released a list of ships to be inactivated. On top of that list was the USS New Jersey. Five days later, Captain Snyder was relieved of command by Captain Robert Peniston.

It wasn't long; 6 September 1969, that New Jersey got underway with her new Captain and her crew as they prepared for the melancholy task of placing the ship into the "Mothball Fleet". Arriving in Puget Sound on 8 September, the crew began the preinactivation overhaul to ready her for the decommissioning. On a cold rainy December day in Bremerton, Washington, New Jersey's colors were hauled down and she entered the inactive fleet. Captain Peniston ended the ceremony with his now well known prophetic call; "Rest well, yet sleep lightly" and here the call, if again sounded, to provide firepower for freedom."

How could Captain Peniston have known that then California Governor Ronald Reagan would become President Ronald Reagan and would make that call more than a dozen years later.....
